

FROG
WATCH | USA

Leap Into Conservation!

Leap into the conservation community by learning the calls of local amphibians and collecting data for FrogWatch USA, a citizen science program where individuals, groups, and families have the opportunity to learn about local wetlands and the breeding calls of local frogs and toads.

You'll gather frog call data which may ultimately lead to workable ways to stop amphibian decline. The recent natural disasters in Southern California make this a particularly valuable year for data collection.

Monitor a site of your choice: a local creek, walking trail, or even your backyard.

Spring 2019 FrogWatch USA Training

Session 2

March 28 and April 4, 2019
6:30–8:30 PM | Santa Barbara Zoo

For more information or to register, email frogwatch@sbzoo.org or call (805) 962-5339, ext.154

Families and children of all ages welcome!

Want to sharpen your FrogWatch skills?

Join a group observation at Lake Los Carneros: March 7, April 11, or May 9 at sunset